Brisbane 22 March 2021

Sydney 28 May 2021

Melbourne 30 July 2021

Welcome from the Associate Health Membership of ANZMOSS

The Australian & New Zealand Metabolic and Obesity Surgery Society (ANZMOSS) invites you to join us for the Integrative Health Roadshow 2021.

Feedback from practicing dietitians and an ANZMOSS membership survey, has indicated that an interest exists for an advanced and practical education program focusing on clinical management principles and team care.

The aim of the event is to focus on providing meaningful professional development for our Integrated Health members. This will enable them to optimise critical and advanced knowledge in Bariatric Care and Management for those wish to move beyond the theoretical aspects of patient care and co-ordination with other members of a patients care team.

Delivered at three prominent locations the sessions will be face-to-face with option for virtual connection to allow for national and international engagement.

The working party has engaged content and practice experts to present and develop various topics areas, including protein management, eating disorders, exercise, pharmacotherapy, endocrinology, biochemistry and micronutrient management, medical and surgical considerations as well as psychology. Please see the program attached for more information.

The practice of bariatric care would not be complete without industry partners which add to the value of our clinical recommendations. We very much value the presence of our industry supporters at this Roadshow to provide an opportunity for delegates to explore products and the evidence supporting benefits, latest trends and new developments.

Expressions of interest by delegates have already been received so we are confident this roadshow will provide broad networking opportunities and will be seen as something not to be missed!

Why you should be interested?
